What this page establishes is that if you are in the market for a comic that features second-year computer science students and rhyming animal names, then Friend, you have come to the right Frigg'in' place.

I was gonna say the mom is being a drag here for not assuming this is safe, but Squirrel Girl never actually told her that "leaping hecka far" is one of her powers, so-- good work, mom. You are a sensible mom, and you only want the best for your child.

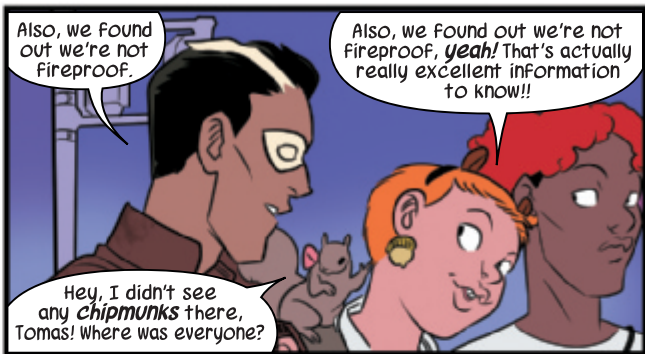

Later...

Oh my gosh, that was amazing! Nobody got hurt in the Fire, thanks to us. We kicked butts and ate nuts!!

I didn't eat nuts. Instead I stayed at ground level to ensure you were all in the most effective places you could be.

That still counts, Nancy, and you need to stop ruining my catchphrase moments!

Also, we found out we're not fireproof.

Also, we found out we're not fireproof, yeah! That's actually really excellent information to know!!

Hey, I didn't see any chipmunks there, Tomas! Where was everyone?

Machinery floor, Tippy. They were pulling oily rags out of the path of the fire.

Chhht chk chkk!

No, they weren't dressed in robes. It's "chipMUNK," not "chipMONK." I'm not Chipmonk Honk.

Oh my gosh, you're totally Chipmonk Honk now.

You know, Tippy, I think I liked you more when--like most everyone else--I couldn't understand a single thing you were saying.

Hah! You love it, Chipmonk Honk.

Wait, guys, you can't just go--

GUYS!

Um...WHAT WAS THAT, CITIZEN? You want me to come inside your apartment and use my uncanny strength to open up some too-tight jars?

I suppose I could go do that, even though I don't know you or, indeed, anyone else here!!
