

FIGMENT 2

A century ago, a young inventor at the Academy Scientifica-Lucidus created a being called Figment using his newly designed, thought-powered machine: the Mesmonic Converter. Soon after, the machine pulled them into a dreamlike world where they visited realms of pure imagination, leading Blair to reach his full creative potential and become the Dreamfinder. They returned home in time to save the planet from a destructive force accidentally unleashed with the converter in their absence.

In taking down the threat, the duo piloted their flying Dream Machine through a portal where they came upon a mysterious geodesic sphere. They landed their malfunctioning airship to discover they'd traveled to the 21st century location of the new Academy, run by Chairman Auckley, who immediately assumed them to be reckless imposters intruding on his school. Fye, the sound sprite they met on their first journey into imagination, is now a professor at the school and was able to vouch for them. Auckley was not yet convinced, but arranged for a school demonstration of the power of imagination. Only, Dreamfinder's not quite sure he can live up to the legend that's grown around him in the intervening 100 years...

Figment

Dreamfinder

Chairman Auckley

Fye

Florida, USA.
A little city on the coast called Cocoa.

Just making some plans.

Stuff I want to build.

I like it!

Maybe we can go to the scrap yard at the end of the month and look for parts.

Really?!

Yes, really. I like seeing your inventions come to life, Capri. You're very skilled.

Besides, I need to keep you busy or else you'll take apart the house.

Very funny...

Can I see what else you've got in there?

I guess so... Don't laugh, though. Some of it's just silly stuff.

Drawing is never silly... Oh! What's this cute little guy called?

His name is "Spark"...

"...he's my imaginary friend."

Dreamfinder?

Dreamfinder...

Where'd you go?

I'm here...

...trying to comprehend this library control terminal.

Fye told me every book and research paper of the Academy Scientifica-Lucidus is available through this machine, but I can't make heads or tails of it.

Hmmm...

There are shelves full of books right here. Why don't we just browse those and--

No!

