

Space.

Deep within it you'll find the intergalactic stellar medium: gas, dust, and cosmic rays.

Deep within the intergalactic stellar medium you'll find the Star Sphere: a ship constructed from the remains of an entire solar system.

And deep within the Star Sphere you'll find its colossal, godlike builder, the sole survivor of the universe that existed before our Big Bang:

GALACTUS.

Wielder of the power Cosmic. Eater of life. Consumer of entire worlds, leaving naught but death behind him.

Of all the planets in all the galaxies in all the universe, he's headed towards ours.

Nobody can defeat him. Nobody has even the tiniest sliver of a chance of stopping him...

...except, perhaps, for one girl.

Come on! We're going to orientation. The welcome kit said it's mandatory.

Doreen, we're in college. Nothing's mandatory unless we want it to be.

Nancy!! You really want to start your college career by breaking the rules?

Yes, actually. That sounds awesome. It sounds like someone awesome would do that.

Be that as it is, we're still going. It's not just a campus tour! There's booths for clubs!

Clubs.

Clubs, Nancy!

Casual semi-structured social interaction. It's how you make Friends. c'mon. I bet there's a kniiiiitting club!!

I have interests beyond knitting, Doreen.

Like what? Like Mew?

Among my several other interests, which are many and varied...yes, centrally, there is Mew.

Tell you what, if there's no cat club, we'll start Mew Club, okay? And the First rule of Mew Club will be you have to like Mew.

Yes. And the second rule of Mew Club will be you have to talk about how much you like Mew at every Mew Club meeting.
