Ἐπιγελοῦσθε ἀγαθὰ:

Before the existence of any who could record, the world was here. It came into being by the forces of both elements, and magic. With the flow of the oceans, lava, and winds, also erupted rivers of the arcane shaping the world with blessing and banes alike.

Those effects could only be inferred, until eons later by those that could see. Upon the birth of the fey, the dwellers, and draconic did magic come under the sway of intent. One out of every thousand have the ability to perceive these lines and threads. They harvest and wield them for many causes.

Ever since the world has swung by a pendulum: order & chaos, dark & light, even life, death, & undeath. Such has it been.

Most would have you believe it will always be.
