Thank You!

Well everyone, this is my last issue. I've had a wonderful time on this book, but I've basically gotten to do everything I wanted to on it, and it's time to let the next person on. I hope you all enjoyed my time wandering around Ooo, figuring out new stories to tell there! I'm really pleased I got to do this crazy long arc that started with issue 36, with little bits and pieces that all got picked up here at the end.

Thanks to Shannon, Whitney, and everyone at BOOM! for bringing me in to basically write fan fiction of one of my favorite shows. Thanks to previous writer, Ryan for working with me on his plans with Penelope, a future incarnation of Finn. And thanks to the amazing artists I've gotten to collaborate with on this book! Zack, Phil, Ian, Maarta, Steve, and Mike have all made this nutty stuff real and beautiful.

Bye bye,
Christopher

The moon.

The future.

WOW!

What?
Lazer sword?
YES!

...
Oh right.

My foes are gigantic GODS of DESTRUCTION who have been around since
BEFORE I WAS BORN.

I don't know if a cool sword can do much here.

What if it's THE COOLEST sword?

The sword wasn't for me. If I got dinged up in the slightest, it stopped working.

Lun...the sleeping, broken told me long ago, the sword is for "a warrior who can withstand great bodily loss without injury."

Probably because getting rid of ALL those old STINKOS at once is such a big deal, it wants like...

...AN UNSTOPPABLE KILLING MACHINE!

Getting messed up mid-way through battle would just make things worse.

That's gotta be you, Penelope.

This dungeon was designed for the right person to make it to the sword. I've waited a TOOOOOOTALLY LOOOONG time for YOU to be the one who did that.

So, you ready to save the world?

If you want a break or lunch or something first, that's probably fine too. Those guys aren't going anywhere.

A warrior who can't be injured? Uh...

I'm really sorry to fell you this, Finn but...

I have definitely been injured in the past.

Like a whole lot.

...

WELL I'VE WAITED A REALLY LONG TIME SO WE'RE GONNA TRY IT WITH YOU ANYWAY!

Gettin' TIRED of this MOON.

Yo, I'm happy to try, but this thing is KINDA small comparatively...

Well after I built the dungeon, I still had some time on my hands so...

I built some AMPLIFICATION devices!

I also had some leftover ancient knowledge from Lun in my brain that taught me how to do it too.
