Somewhere in Alaska.

James, Logan, Patch, Weapon X, Wolverine...

...Canada,
Madripoor,
New York,
Japan...

...Krakoa...

Names scramble.
Time gets slippery.
My brain feels bruised black.

I don't know when, where or even who I am.

The background of the entire page is a light blue, icy surface with numerous white snowflakes of various sizes. In the upper right, a character with long, flowing red hair and a green and black outfit is lying on their back, looking up with a pained expression. In the lower right, another character with a red, muscular, and somewhat monstrous appearance is lying on their back, looking up with a pained expression. A vertical black rectangular frame on the left side of the page contains a close-up of the red-skinned character's face and upper torso.

But I do know this:

I'm an expert on pain.

I been beaten, poisoned,
burned, bombed, slashed,
stabbed, shot,
electrocuted, drowned...

...been knifed through with hot veins of metal and had my bones turned inside out...

...been nuked,
steamrolled,
crucified, ripped
in half, chewed up and spit out.

My body is one big wound, a million scars I carry around inside me.

...are dead
at my hands.

But nothing compares,
not even close, to the hurt I feel now...

...knowing
my friends...
my family...

Krakoa.

The island's always changing.

A canyon seals closed. A river gushes out of the ground. A rocky peak spikes up overnight.

Some think of Krakoa as a safe haven.

That's the kind of thinking that gets people killed.*

*see X-Force (2019) #1.

If this place ain't giving me a reason to trust the ground beneath my feet...

...then I'm going to treat it like a series of obstacles and threats.

One big Danger Room...

...a testing ground that's constantly evolving... reprogramming itself.

The gash of my footprint becomes a sudden garden.

A valley bulges into a hill.

Same goes for the mutants who call this place home.

Enemies are suddenly allies.

Someone who was trying to end the world is now trying to save it?

Someone you were trying to kill--or avoid getting killed by-- is now a neighbor?

You can accept it. Or you can treat it like a test.

We're all in this together, they say. We've all changed, they say.

I ain't so sure about that.

But as someone who's done terrible things...and moved past them...

...I suppose I gotta trust the same is possible for everybody else...

...or not.

I understand...
...that you're offering amnesty.
