Time is broken. In the Thirty-First Century, causality is disintegrating, causing events to be replayed and relived. The Guardians of the Galaxy, that era's foremost defenders, are fighting to prevent the collapse of reality.

Geena Drake, the Guardians' newest recruit, is a young Earth girl rescued from a Badoon labor camp.

For reasons no one can explain, Geena has a natural sensitivity to the disruption of time. With her companions Charlie-27, Yondu and Star-Lord, Geena has travelled into the past to locate the origin of the time collapse. In New York City, they have joined with the Guardians of the Galaxy of 2015 to contain the threat.

The threat is the Stark, a robotic species that has evolved from the technological legacy of Tony Stark, replicating from a unit that Geena and her friends accidentally brought back from the future with them. But help is at hand. Major Victory, Starhawk, Martinex and Nikki, the other members of the Thirty-First Century Guardians, have followed Geena back through time...
