

Yeah, we're on lockdown until this thing is over.

No. Not on this phone. I'll tell you why when I see you.

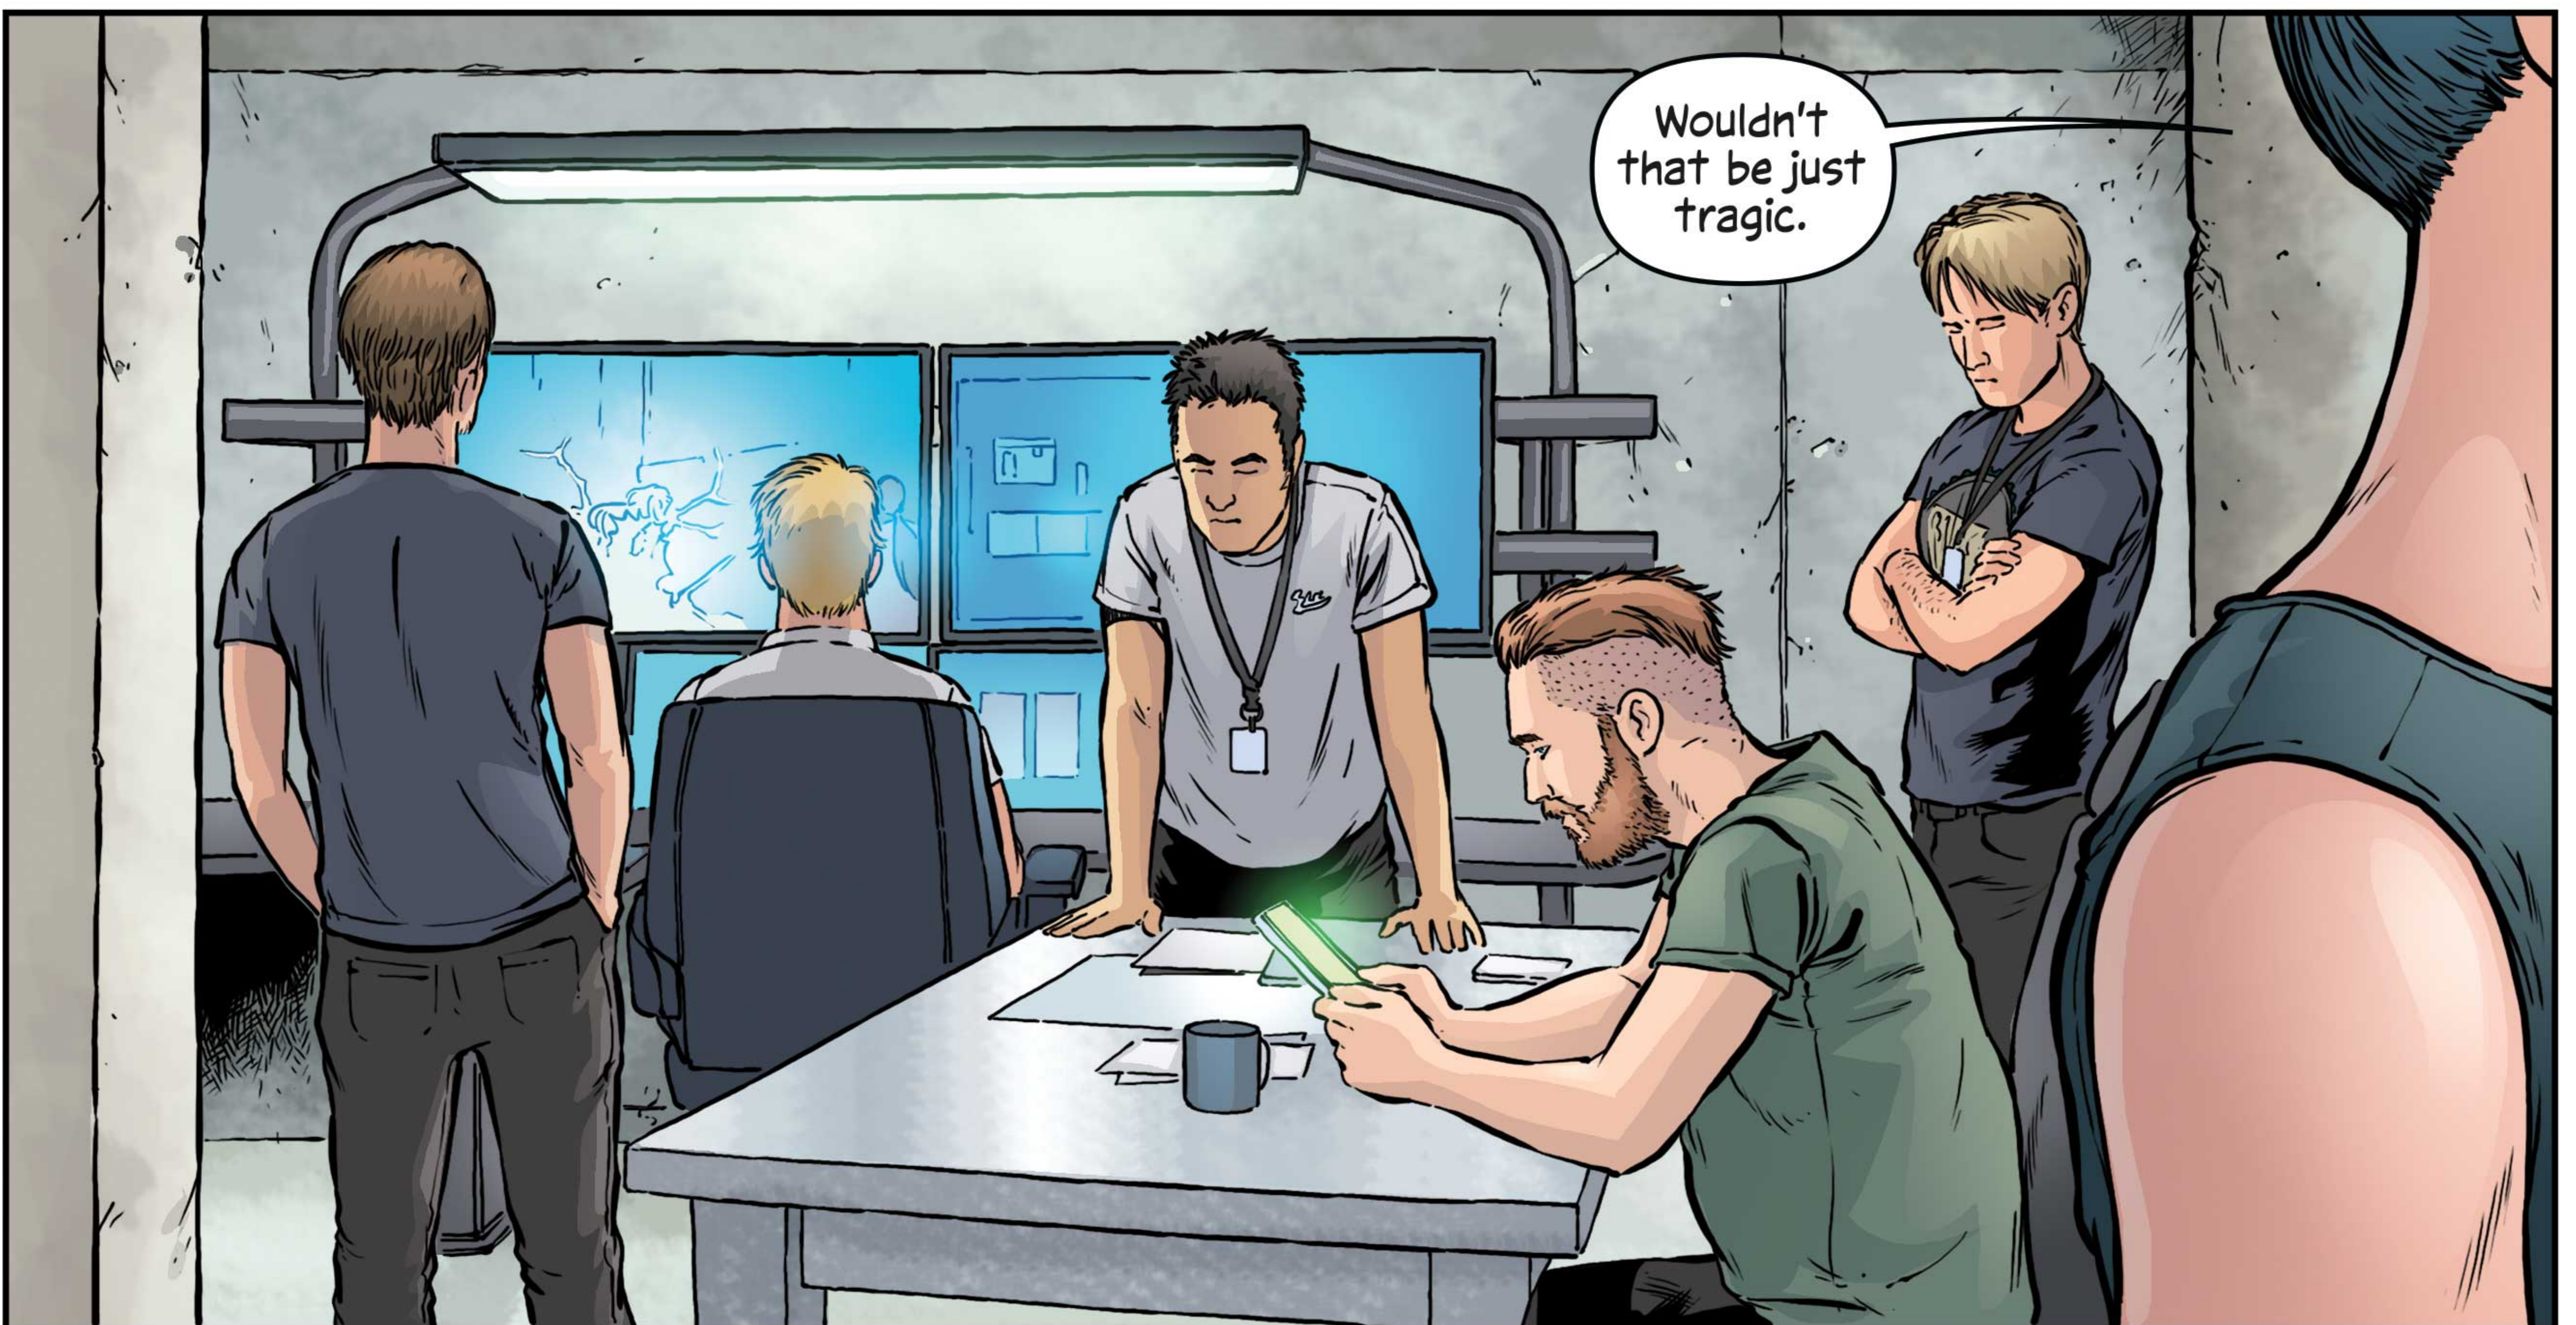

I wish. I can hear Miles' husband bitching him out over the phone in the next room.

Still. It's not necessarily bad.

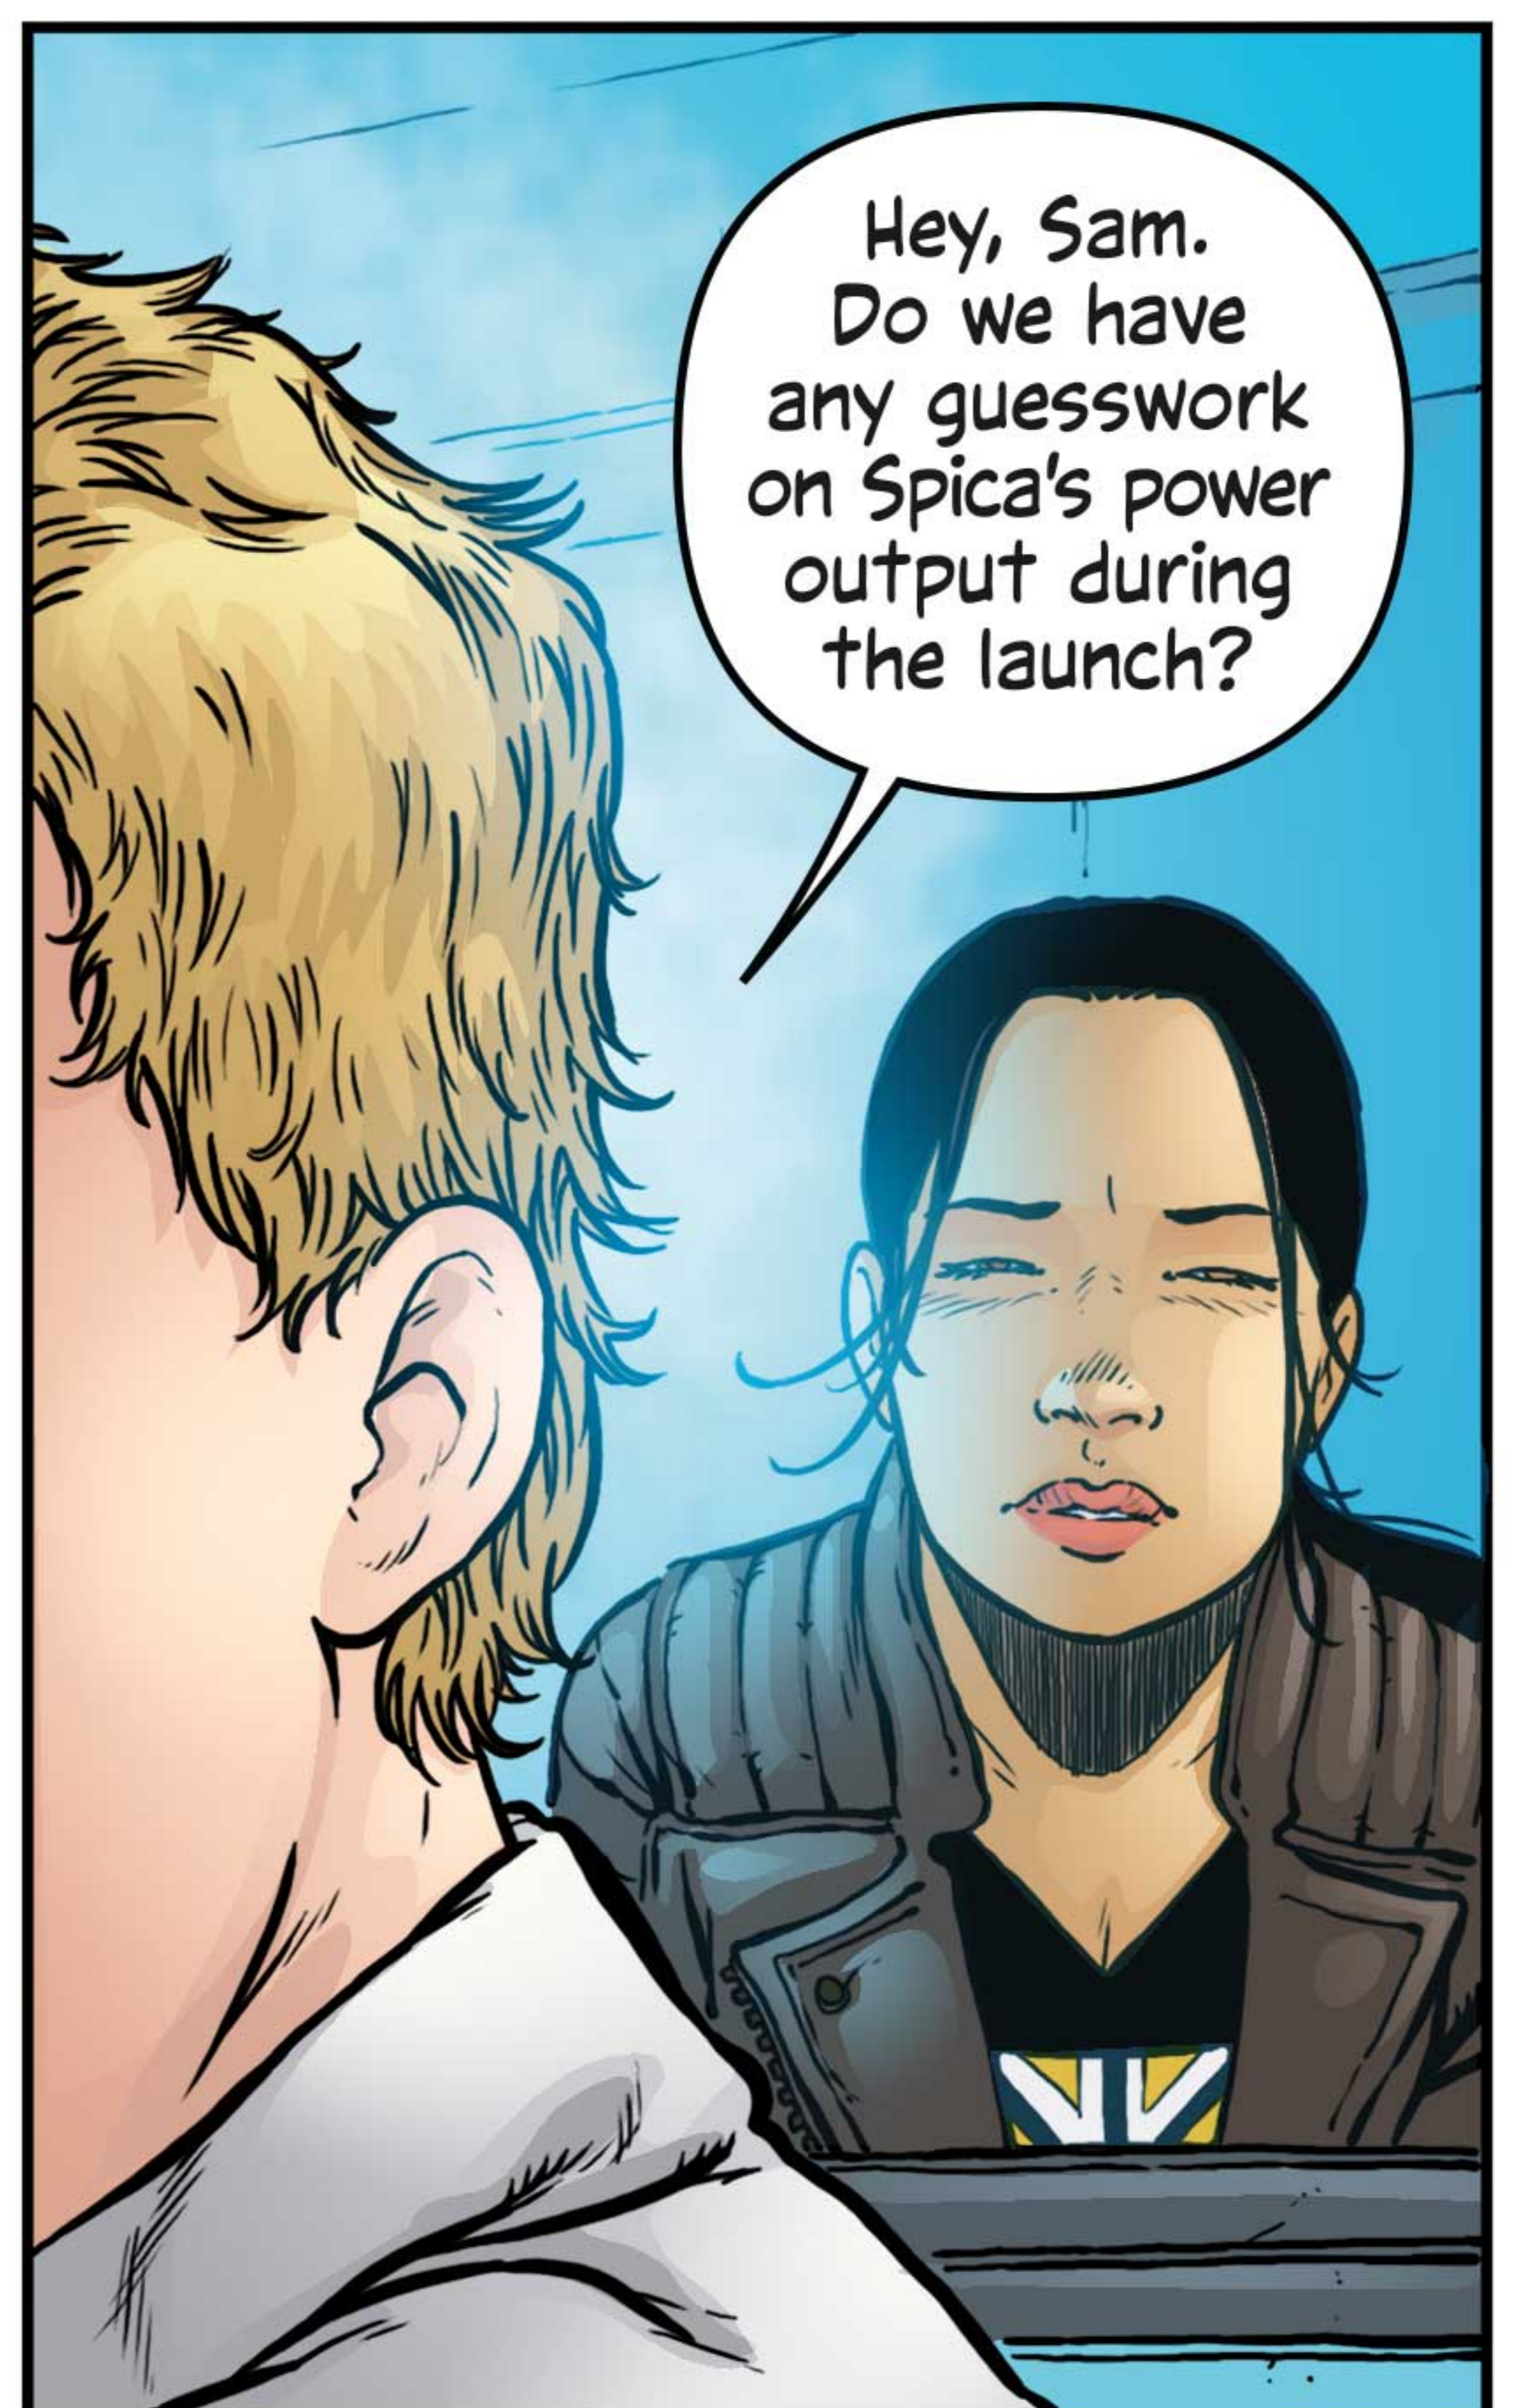

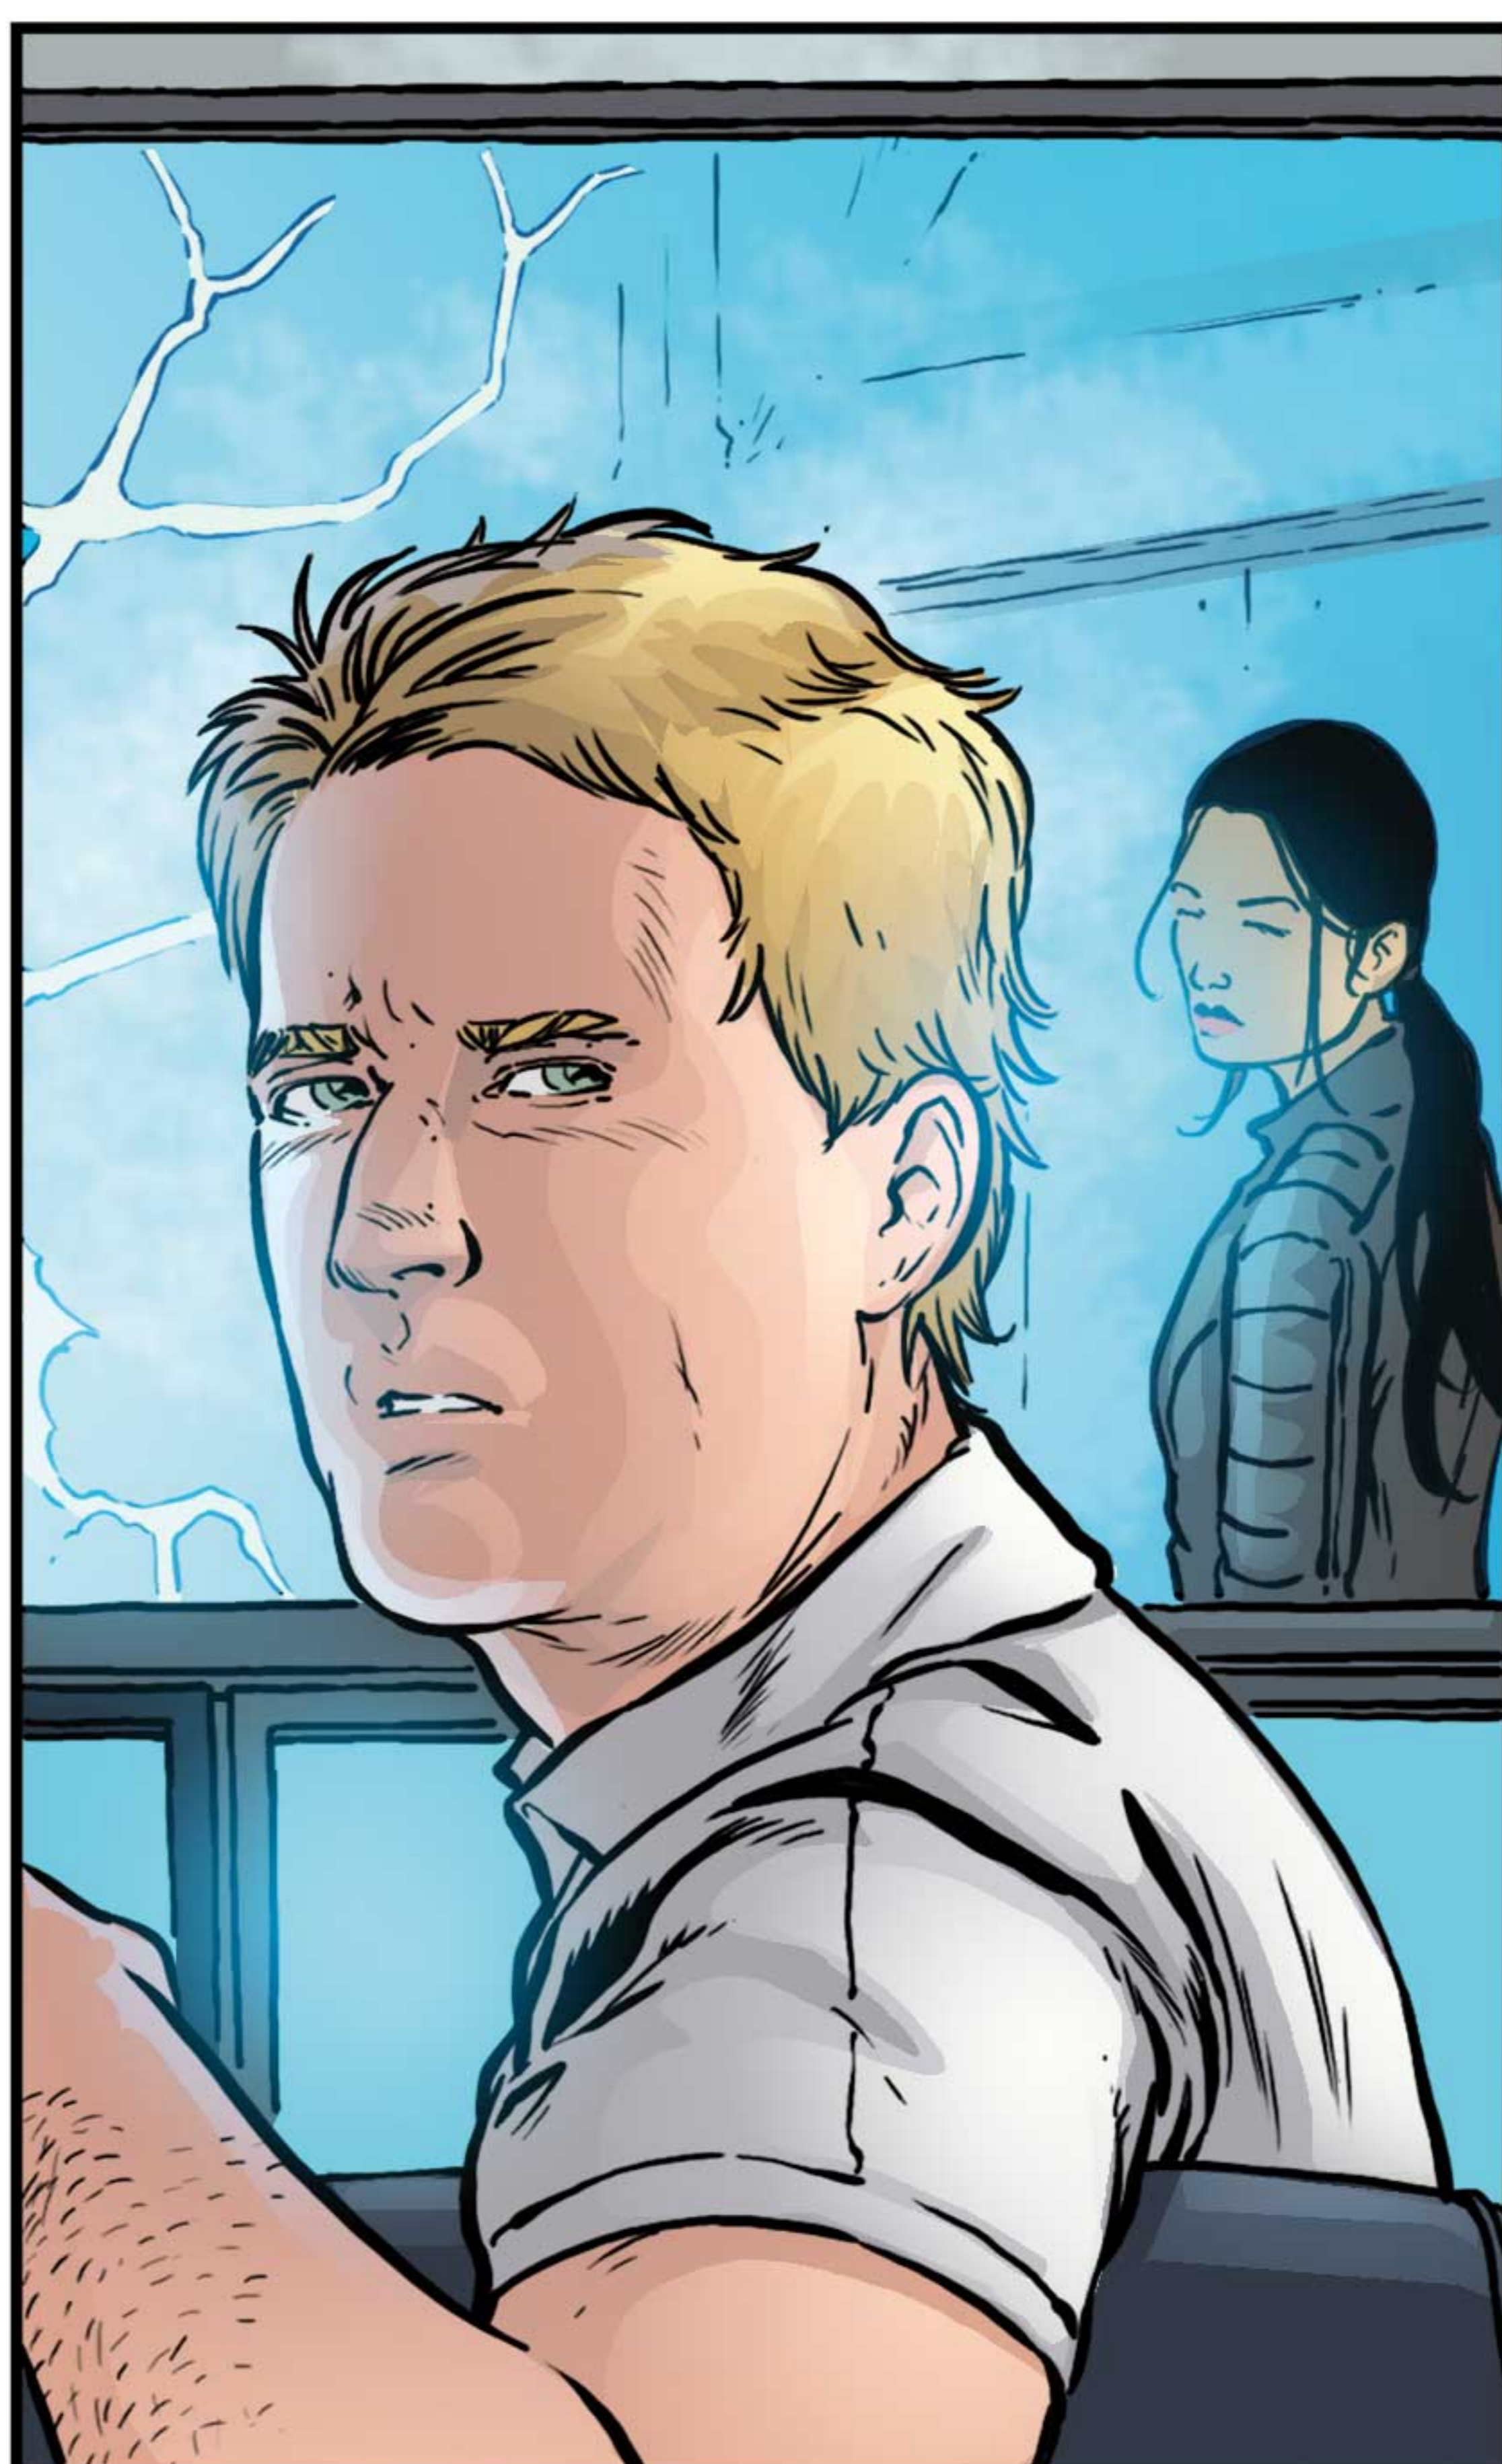

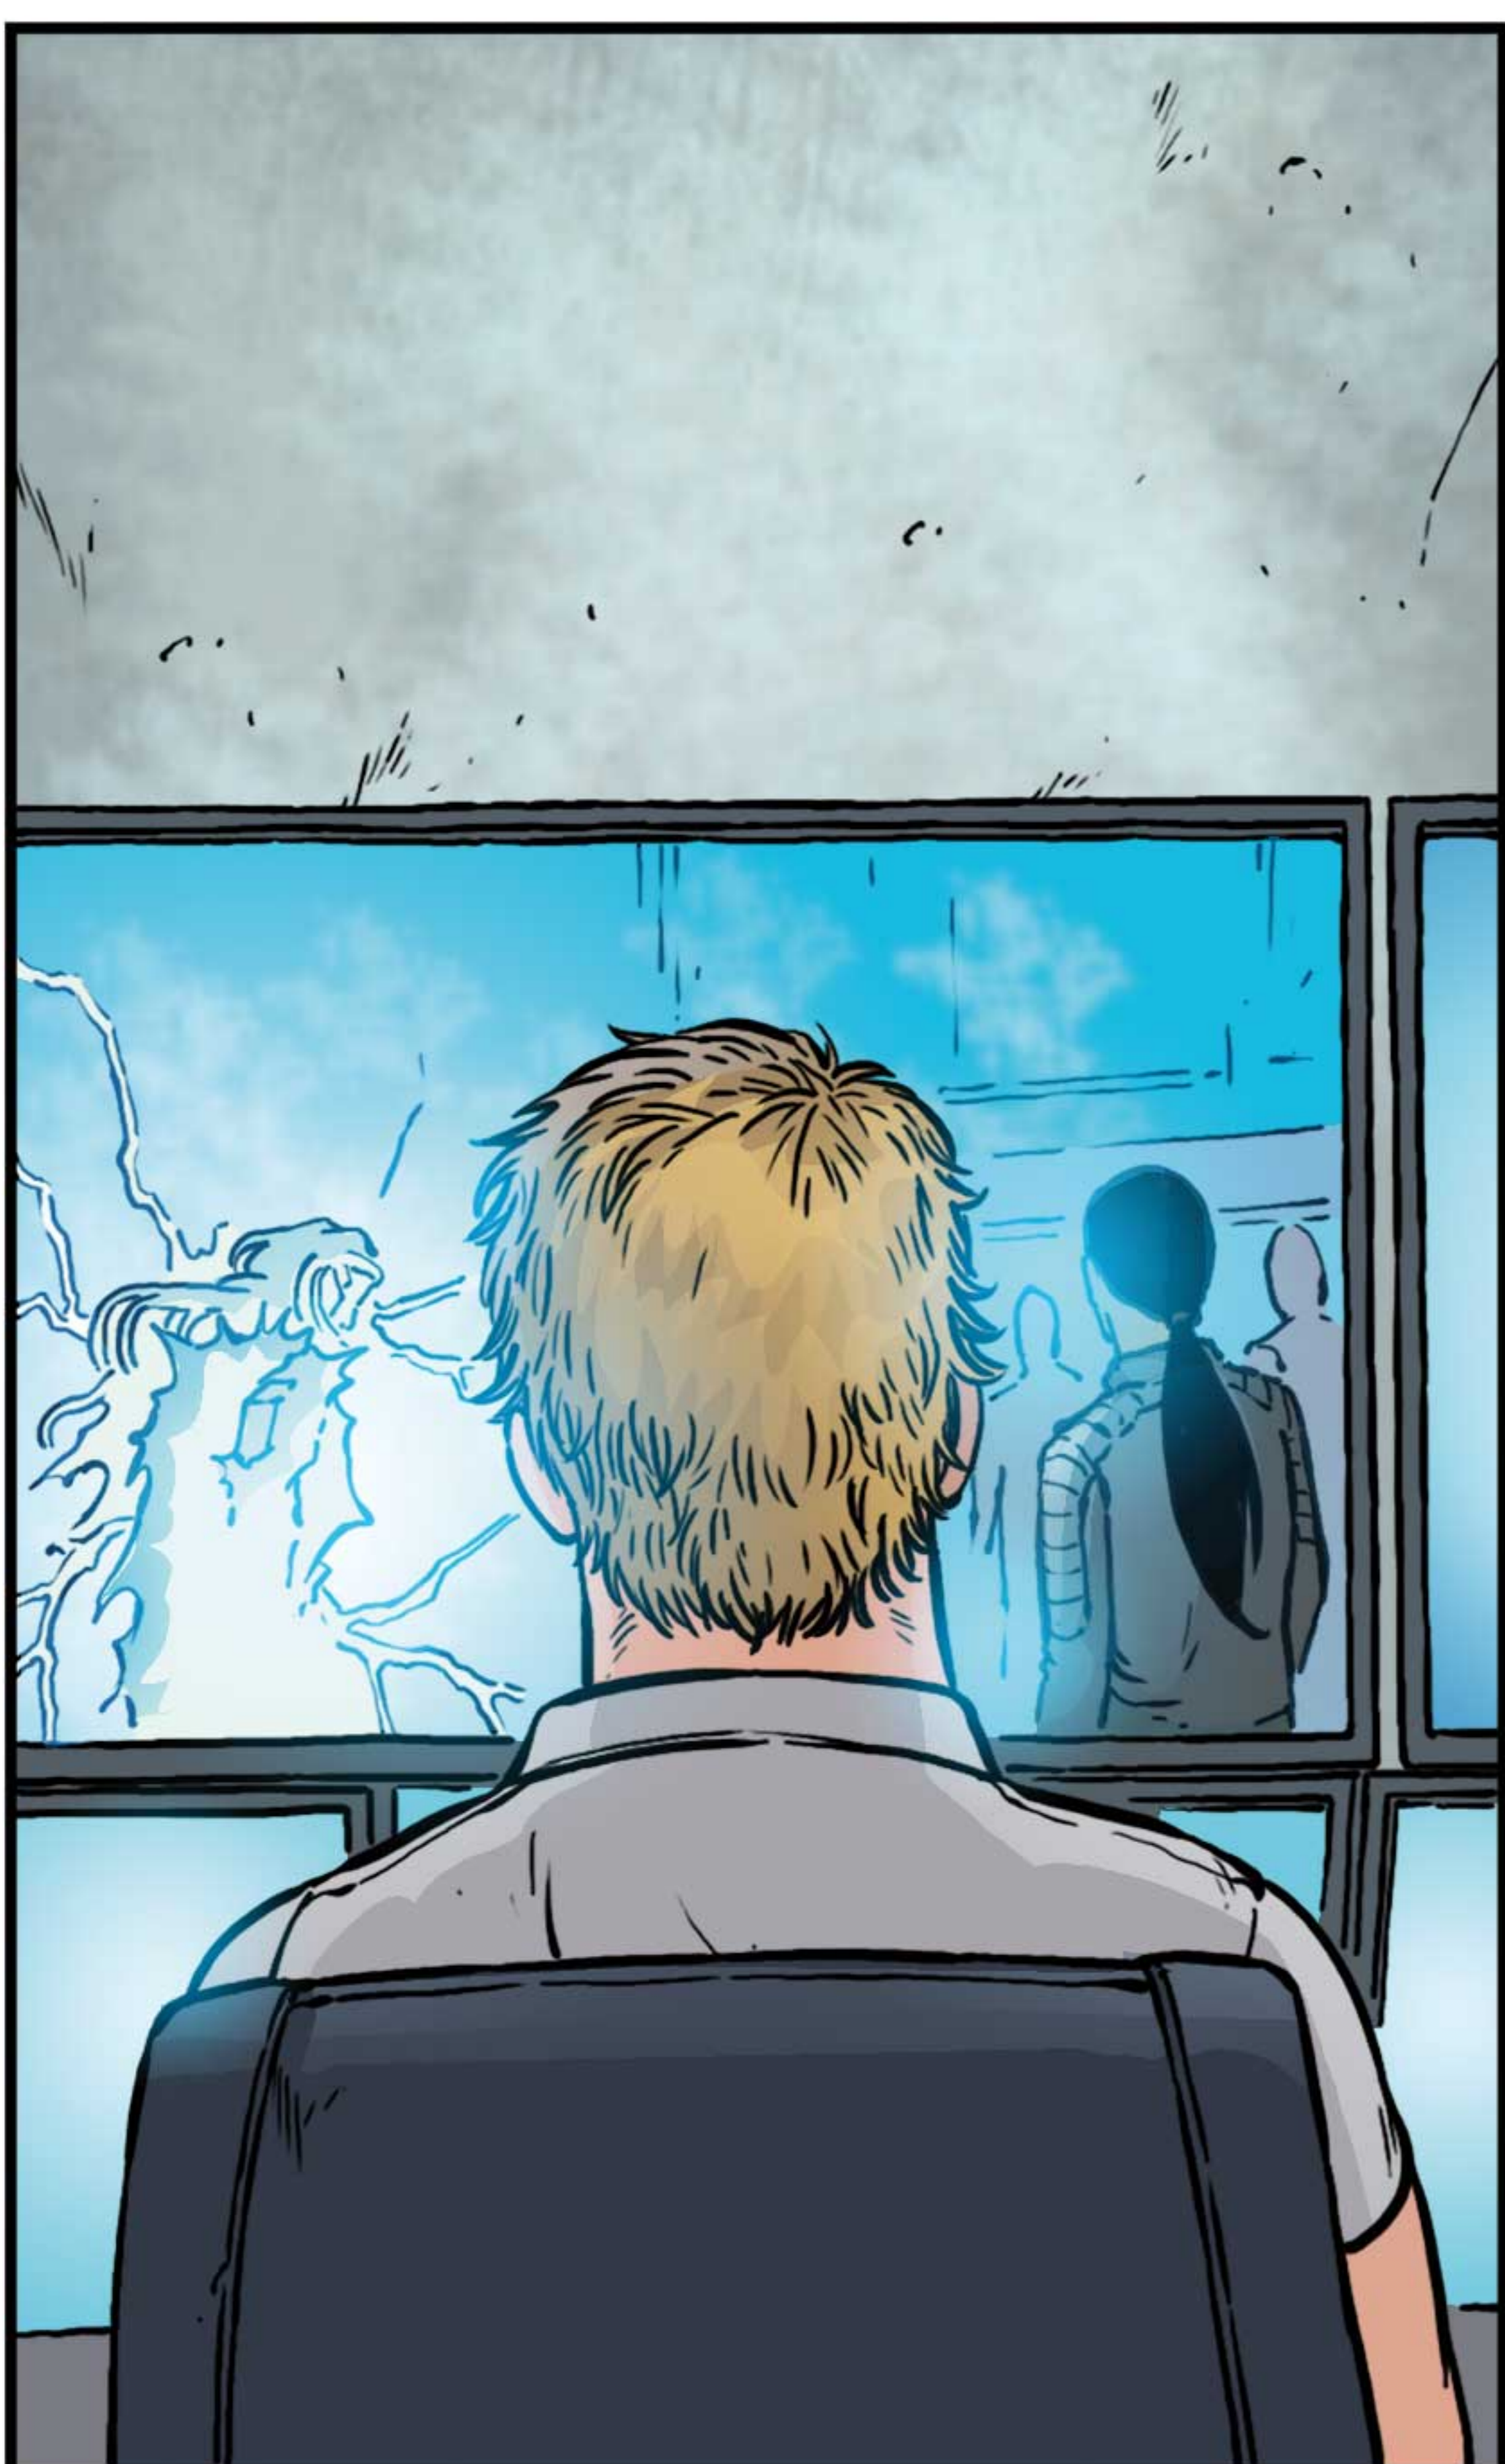

Well, technically it's probably a treaty breach, but the other side won't go to war over it.

They'll just force the removal of Miles Craven.

Wouldn't that be just tragic.

Hey, Sam. Do we have any guesswork on Spica's power output during the launch?

