

Something
strange happened in Greece today.

It was a catalyst.

SCREEEECH

Something unexpected.

Something unexplained.

Something this world has never seen before.

Something that hasn't been seen for thousands of years.

SCRAAHHING

Primitive cellular device with basic features that do little more than distract the user from life-threatening, real-world events.

The world watches.

It is transfixing.

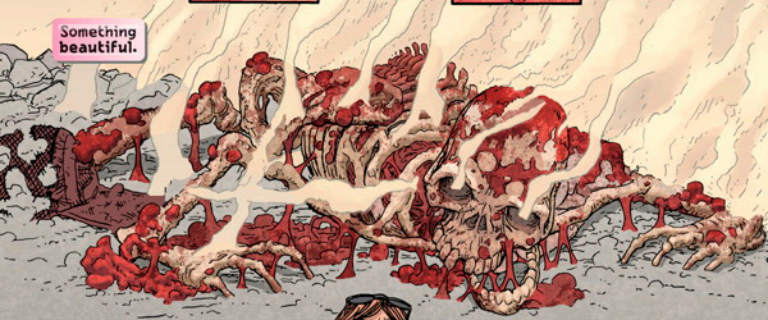

SKSHHHH

They don't realize what they are seeing.

They are witnessing a singular event.

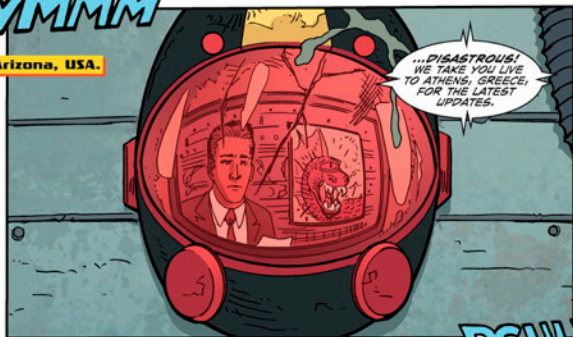

Something beautiful.

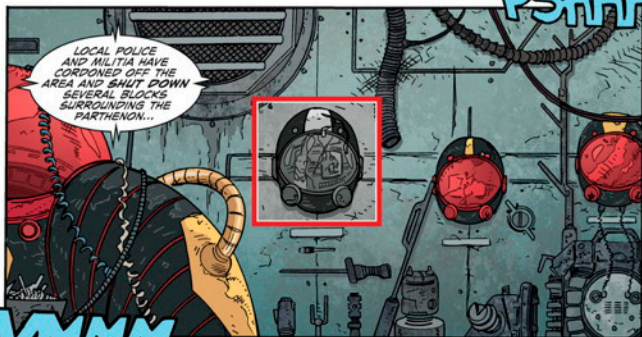

Something...

VMMM

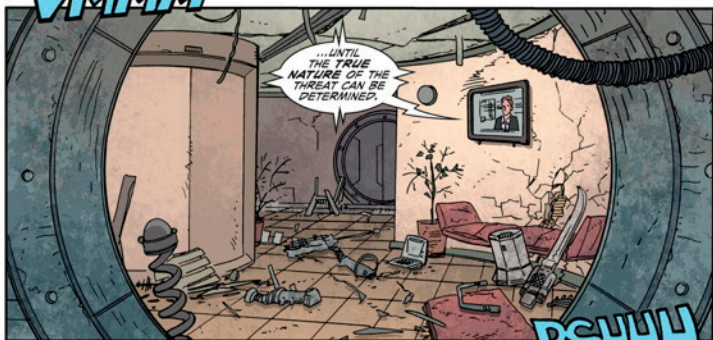

Arizona, USA.

PSHHH

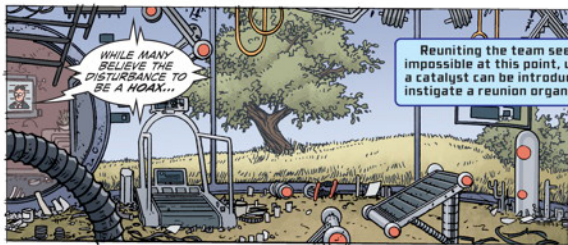

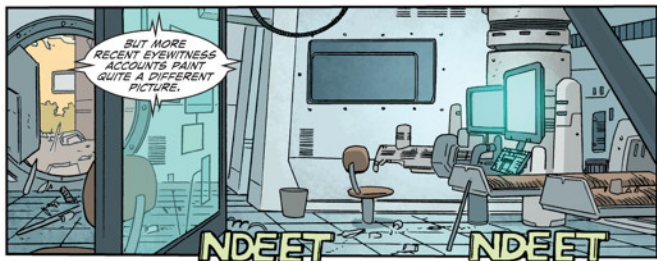

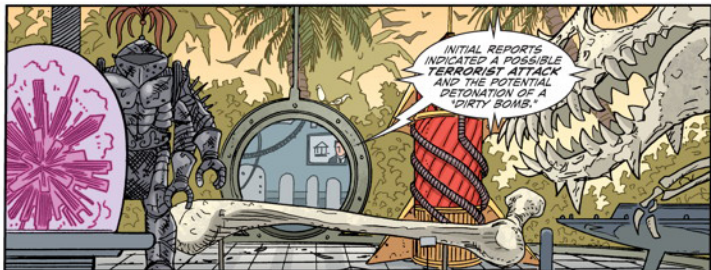

VMMM

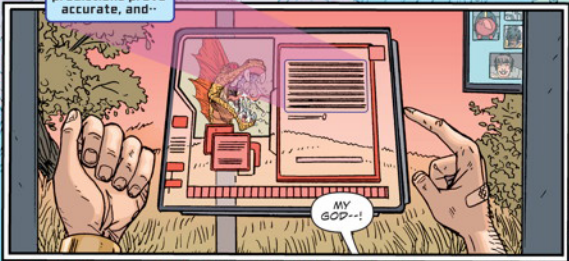

PSHHH

□ Chronohelmet with crimson tint that filters multiple-timeline light sources simultaneously to minimize chronoheadaches. Also impact resistant.

I hope that my predictions prove accurate, and--

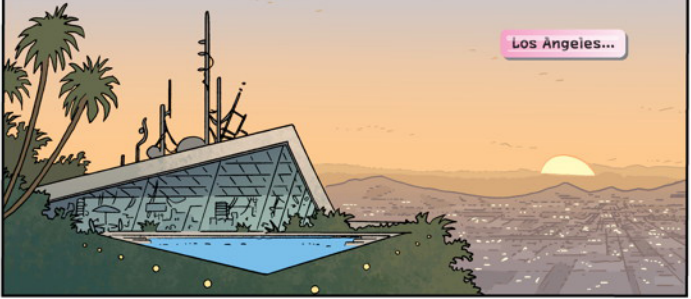

...THE RESPONSE BY GREECE'S HELLENIC ARMED FORCES HAS BEEN VERY REAL.

IT'S HAPPENED!

Adaptable virtual-reality screen with fluid sound/image progression. Originally designed for extended deep-space missions, but ideal for combating claustrophobia and depression.

Los Angeles...

...hasn't realized what's happened yet.

I HOPE THIS WORKS, HERB...

They are still drifting from moment to moment. Oblivious to the monumental nature of the day that just happened.

I'M SO TIRED...

Huh.

Assisted-suicide device with brain-scanning abilities, allowing it to customize its attack on a subject's brain patterns in a way that induces euphoria, followed by death.

6-D quintuplifocal lenses capable of layering multiple realities into a hybrid approximating the most accepted reality in existence--all still theoretical and in the testing stages.