Brooklyn, New York.

This is a circus.

Stay focused, honey.

I am all focused.

It's just a damn circus.

You're making Miles nervous.

I'm fine.

Miles, baby, no matter what happens today... this is not a reflection on you.

I know.

This has nothing to do with you as a person.

There are only 40-some spots available in this charter school and there are, what? 700 applicants from our neighborhood.

I know.

You just need to stop and think about that.

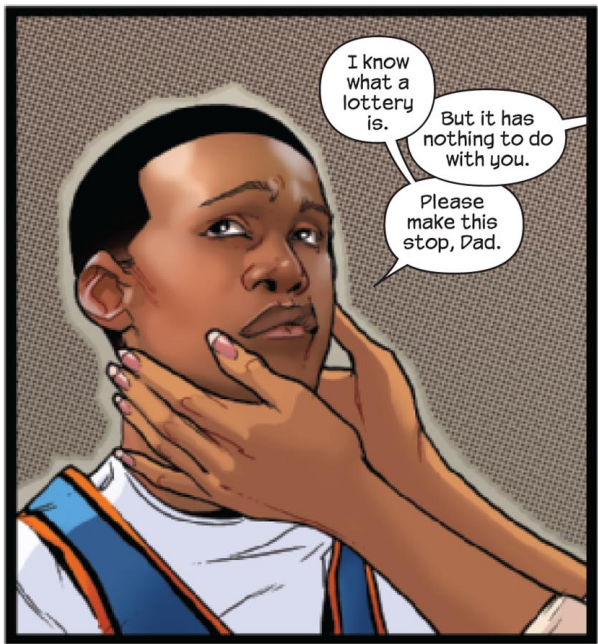

It's just-- This is a lottery.

I know what a lottery is.

But it has nothing to do with you.

Please make this stop, Dad.

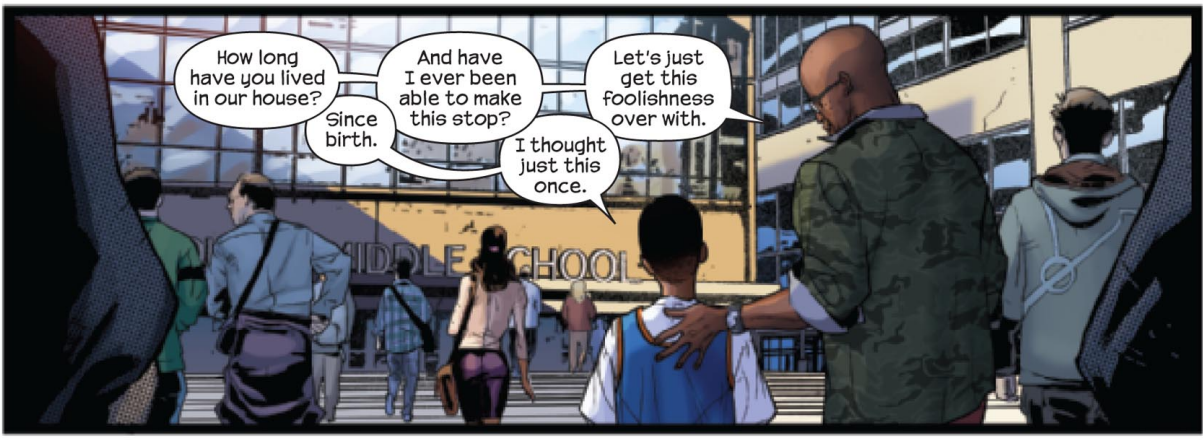

How long have you lived in our house?

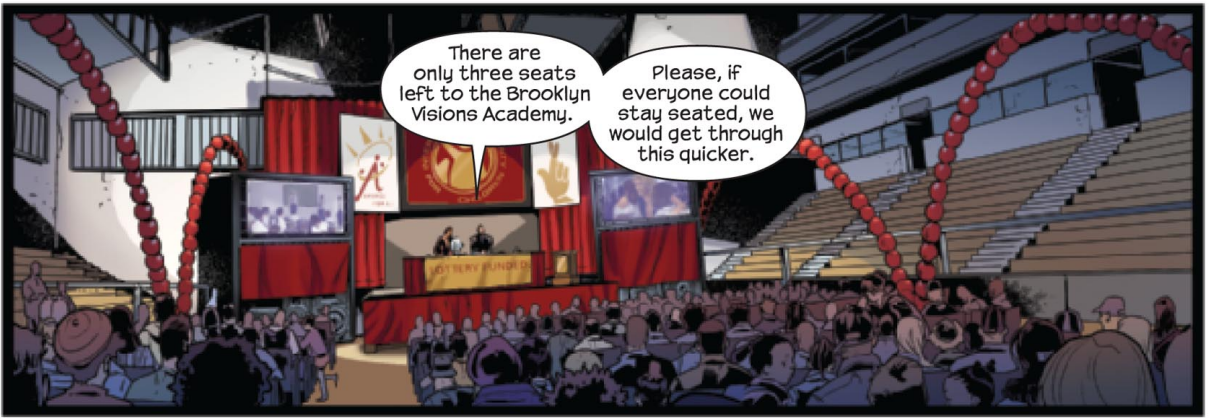

Since birth.

And have I ever been able to make this stop?

I thought just this once.

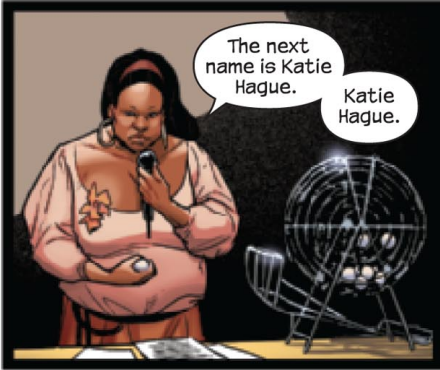

Let's just get this foolishness over with.

There are only three seats left to the Brooklyn Visions Academy.

Please, if everyone could stay seated, we would get through this quicker.

The next name is Katie Hague.

Katie Hague.

Can we go now?

Stop it.

The world's gone insane.

Yes!! Oh God!! YES!!

Oh God!!

Andy London.

Insane.

Waste of a day.

Please stop.
