

GOTHAM CITY.
TOLLIVER MEMORIAL MORGUE.

A full-page illustration from a comic book. Batman, in his classic black and grey suit with a yellow utility belt, stands on the left side of a brick rooftop. He is looking towards Batwoman. Batwoman, in her black and red tactical suit with a long red cape, stands on the right side of the rooftop. She is holding a red and black blaster in her right hand. Her red cape is blowing in the wind. The background shows a city skyline with several skyscrapers under a dark, rainy sky. Rain is falling diagonally across the entire scene. Two speech bubbles are present: one from Batman on the left and one from Batwoman on the right.

WIND'S PICKING UP, BATWOMAN. THIS ISN'T GETTING BETTER.

AM I WRONG OR HAVE YOU BEEN SAYING THAT FOR YEARS?

IT'S A HURRICANE. EVEN YOU CAN'T FIGHT NATURE, BATMAN.

YOU'RE NOT HERE TO REMIND ME OF MY LIMITATIONS, NIGHTWING.

TIM'S DEAD.* I WON'T GIVE UP ONE MORE LIFE, NATURE OR NOT.

BATWOMAN. NOTIFY THE TEAM— SPOILER, ORPHAN, EVEN CLAYFACE. WE NEED EVERYONE.

*See Red Robin's last stand in DETECTIVE COMICS #940. —Mark

THIS IS A NATURAL DISASTER, BRUCE. I'LL RUN THE TEAM HARD, BUT YOU HAVE TO KNOW THAT SAVING EVERYONE MAY BE IMPOSSIBLE. REFUSING TO ACKNOWLEDGE THAT WON'T HELP.

BATWOMAN'S RIGHT. YOU'RE PUSHING YOURSELF TO THE EDGE. THIS COULD BE WORSE THAN THE ZERO YEAR FLOOD.

AND THAT ALMOST KILLED YOU.

IT'S SIMPLE, DICK.

I'D GLADLY GO OVER THE EDGE. I'M NOT LOSING SOMEONE ELSE. I WILL NOT ALLOW IT. WE DO BETTER. FIND A WAY.

RED ROBIN WOULD HAVE.

TIM'S NOT HERE.

NO. BUT WE STILL NEED TO SAVE LIVES. ALL TIM EVER NEEDED WAS HIS OWN TWO HANDS.

THEN WE BETTER GET STARTED.

THE CAULDRON.
