

HIGHTOWER SYSTEM INTEGRATED

Okay. So, since Hightower machine telepathy really doesn't read minds yet, let's see what I can make it actually do...

Ooh. That's pretty. Oh wait, what's... OH. I can see my suit computing.

And it can hear me thinking. I'm thinking at the suit and it's acting. I've bypassed my own control systems.

I'm running an internet connection, too. I wonder...how does it visualize the internet?

Wait, wait, I didn't mean GO TO the internet--

Hah.
Hahahahah.

I can see everything.

The
hell?

What?

There's
another mind in the system.

It's kind of thin and crackly, but it's there. That's a consciousness.

That's...damned
weird. It's like a crapload of cameras
and networked sensors
stuck to a human brain with an IP
address.

Hold on a tick.

