TRANSFORMERS

LOST LIGHT

When a malfunctioning geobomb shunts Necroworld into a parallel universe, the Autobots find themselves on a Cybertron ruled by the totalitarian Functionist Council.

While Megatron tries to protect the refugee city of Adaptica from a weaponized Luna Z, Rodimus leads a team to rescue Rung: in this universe, the psychiatrist's obscure alt mode has made him an anti-Functionist figurehead.

As Team Rodimus approaches Adaptica in The Cog—the Functionst Council's flying headquarters—Rung announces his intention to crash the ship into a weak spot on Luna Z, destroying the moon and thwarting the Council's long-term plan to purge the galaxy of all non-Functionist races. But Rodimus objects: without the interstellar teleport inside the moon, there's no way the displaced Autobots can get back to Necroword. And if they can't get back to Necroworld, they can't get back to their own universe...
