

We recording this? That's the way it works, innit?

If it doesn't happen on camera--

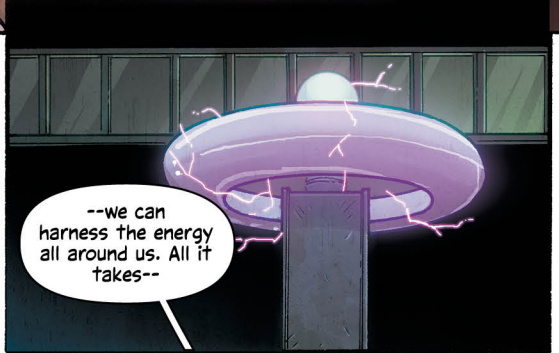

--then no one will believe you.

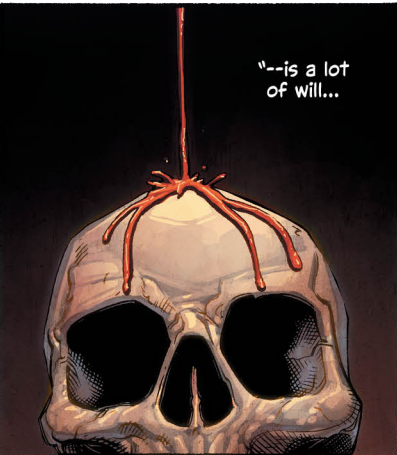

"And belief makes the whole world go 'round."

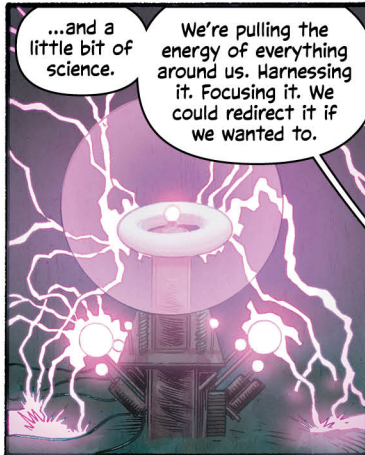

There's no generator at work here. We don't need to create new energy--

--we can harness the energy all around us. All it takes--

"--is a lot of will..."

...and a little bit of science.

We're pulling the energy of everything around us. Harnessing it. Focusing it. We could redirect it if we wanted to.

"God probably felt like this. Greedy bastard, he seems to be.

"We're going to do what Lucifer never could. You don't beat God by keeping all the power to yourself."

You beat God by giving the power away.

We just created free energy.

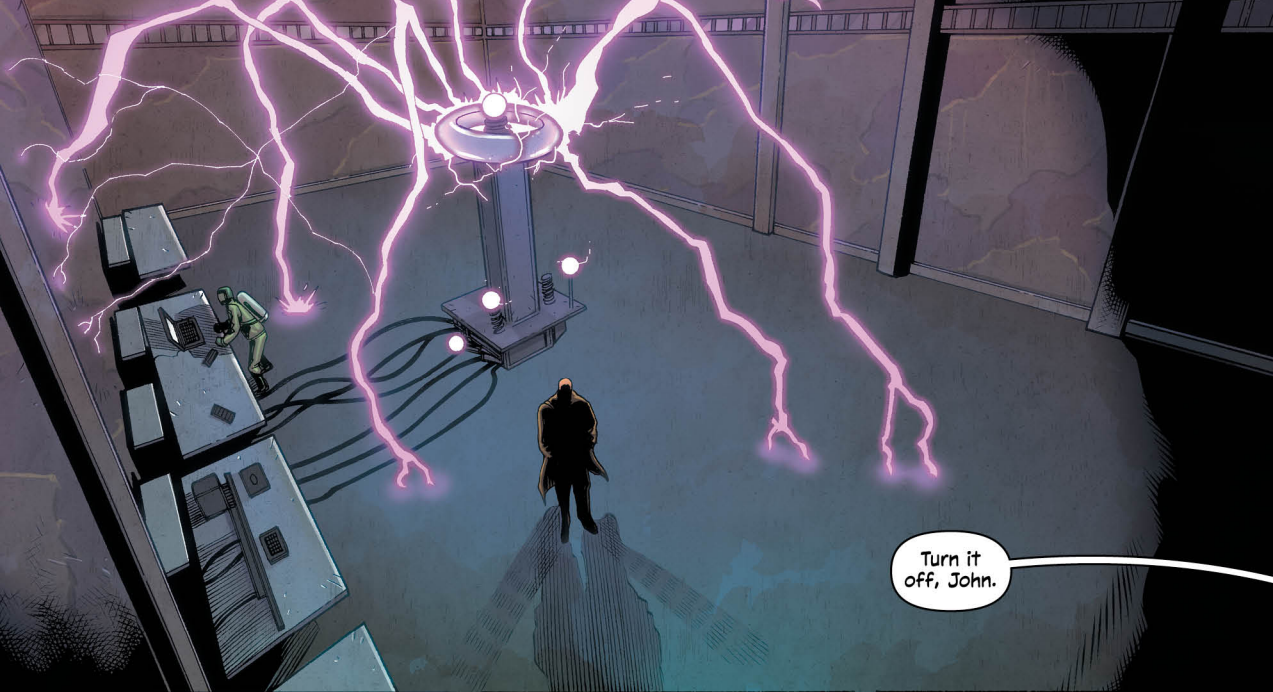

God can sod off.

MICHAEL CRAY - CHAPTER SEVEN

writer BRYAN HILL penciller N. STEVEN HARRIS inker DEXTER VINES colorist ROSS CAMPBELL letterer SIMON BOWLAND

cover DENYS COWAN, BILL SIENKIEWICZ and STEVE BUCCELLATO variant cover JAMAL CAMPBELL

associate editor ROB LEVIN group editor MARIE JAVINS based on a story by WARREN ELLIS MICHAEL CRAY created by JIM LEE and BRANDON CHOI

Turn it off, John.

I was hoping you would enjoy the show.

Since you paid for it.

If you're confident mass production of those devices can make a grid, then I am approaching satisfied.

Forgive me if I don't trust you, Dr. Constantine... but you're a liar.

Thief and a madman, as well.
But only a madman would help you break the world in two.

And only a genius could actually do it.

This will be enough for the ritual?

Magick isn't a world of guarantees, love. Especially not the kind you want. Trust me, if your gods could speak to you, they would tell you that.

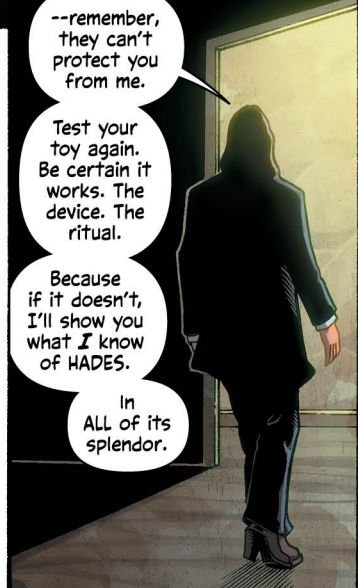

ERK!

Maybe we should all just calm down--

Testing my patience intentionally. I don't find it charming.

You claim demons tell you how to build your machines. Perhaps they do. Perhaps your magic is more than theater, but if your demons can help you, Dr. Constantine--

--remember, they can't protect you from me.

Test your toy again. Be certain it works. The device. The ritual.

Because if it doesn't, I'll show you what I know of HADES.

In ALL of its splendor.

Hell bringing me the judgment that I deserve. Wouldn't that be a sight?

What form would judgment take?

