Unity is a global law enforcement team of super-powered operatives, dedicated to protecting humanity from top-secret threats. There's never been a team quite like this one...but they're not without precedent.

Throughout history, people with exceptional abilities have always sought each other out and banded together to face the world's greatest threats. In the Middle Ages, such a team was formed to stop the War-Monger...an immortal agent of chaos who delights in picking fights and goading others into battle.

But the War-Monger has returned today...and before Unity could gather to defeat her en masse, she took out a key member, Ninjak, in a brutal attack in his own home...
