Xoo Lim is an unlicensed, unregistered chef in The Bowl, a mysterious walled city where food is the ultimate commodity and chefs are the ultimate celebrities.

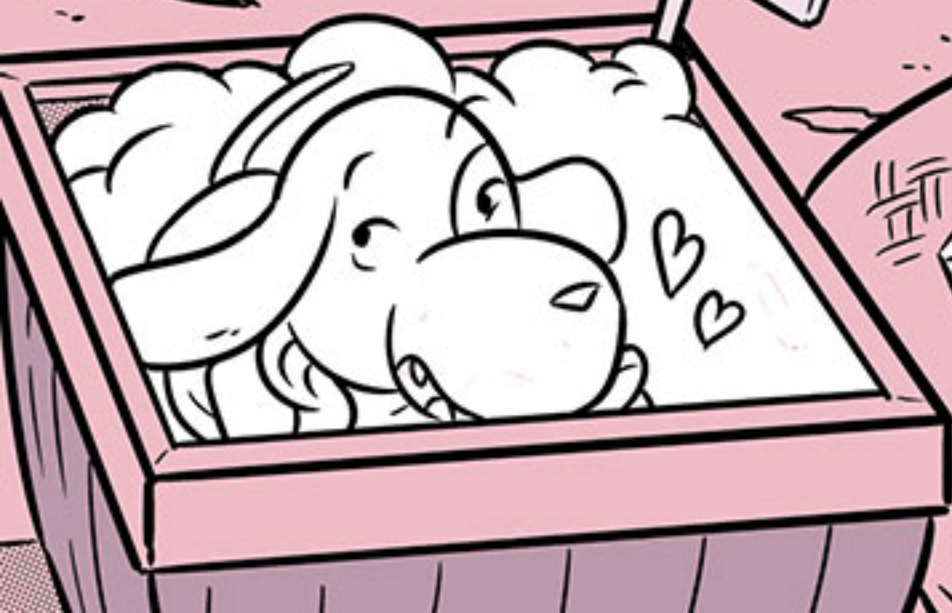

Geof Lim, Xoo's uncle, overhears talk of a cooking tournament with a big cash prize. His eavesdropping leads to a tussle, with his attacker cowering down when they discovered the truth about Geof. You don't know what his secret is yet, but give it time.

Anant Kaur is a student at The Bowl's most prestigious culinary academy and son of one of the city-state's highest-ranking politicians. He knew Xoo a long time ago and greatly misses her. You don't know what happened to them yet, but give it time.

Xoo and her dog, Buster, snuck out of the house to enter Fishmongers, an underground black market where she hopes to win the prize of Garuda truffles, which may help her ailing parents, by any means necessary.
