The stories are true! You're the late-night
bandits!

Hand over your money and you won't get hurt.

Much.

My wife told me not to go out after dark. She warned me.

Less talking.
More running.

Wh-what?

If you don't want us to turn
you into a pincushion...

Run!

AAAAAAAAAAAA!!!!
HEEEEEEEELP!

These
thieves have been relentless, your majesty.

They attack
anyone and everyone
who leaves the safety of the village. People are afraid to go out
after dark.

This cannot be allowed to continue.
I want armed patrols dispatched to find these scoundrels and arrest
them.

And,
until these cowardly
thieves are apprehended,
for the safety of my people...

I hereby ban leaving
the village after sunset.

What?

But father...

I know it's unpleasant, but I have to protect my people.

No, I mean, yes, of course you have to.

But you're imprisoning the people instead of the thieves.

Rapunzel, we know how you feel about this, but--

I have to think of the safety of my people.

And especially, the safety of my only daughter.

Yes, you're always thinking of my safety, above everything else.

Later that night...

I'm not going to sit by and wait.

I figured as much.

I know what it's like to be a prisoner in my own home.

Yes, you do.

And I refuse to let a couple of thieves imprison an entire village!

I understand.

I'm gonna find those ruffians!

I can see that.

And lock them up instead of our people!

Lead the way, General!
