To your health.

I'll admit-- when you agreed to this meeting, I was not expecting to be provided with dinner...

PLANET ARAKKO.
FORMERLY KNOWN AS MARS.

...and certainly not in such breathtaking surroundings.

I'm glad you appreciate the view, Victor. We worked hard to create it.

As for dinner... sometimes letting an opponent know you can play their games--

--and by their rules--

--creates the proper impression.

How is the bouillabaisse?

I refuse
to open my mouth
grille for any dish less than magnificent,
Ororo.

This...is superlative.

Would it
be rude of me
to kidnap your chef?

An act of war. But an understandable
one.

And less rude than turning
your dinner guest
into a chrome
statue...

Ah, yes--
that unfortunate
business with Arcade... how long ago? I sent a robot in my place, as I remember.

Clearly, the machine was suffering some grotesque internal fault to so cavalierly
break the sacred bonds
of hospitality.

The true Doom would never disrespect
a goddess.
