

We finally faced into the dark. And we lost everything.

Walked out from what we had into the cold to find some new place not to die.

CAN'T HEAR A THING.

I WANT MY BONES
TO SHAKE, THE WHOLE WORLD SCREAMING UNDERNEATH.

BURY US UNDER ALL WE WROUGHT.

I CAN'T SUPPORT THIS QUIET.

SHORT OF ALL THAT I'M STUCK WITH ME.

AND ME I JUST CAN'T SHAKE.

WHAT'S THIS WORLD
GOT LEFT?

WILL IT RAIN FIRE?

SWALLOW ME WHOLE?

OR WILL I JUST FADE?

A close-up of a man with a shoulder injury, looking off to the side. The background shows a rocky, outdoor setting.

HEALED UP BETTER THAN YOU'D ANY RIGHT TO.

A wide shot of a rocky landscape with a man standing on a rock in the background and another man in the water in the foreground. There are purple plants on the left.

THERE WAS A MINUTE THERE WHERE YOU WERE GOING. YOUR HEART
JUMPED AND KICKED
'TIL I COULD BARELY
HEAR YOU BREATHE.

KEPT SAYING
'JENNY'. I'D JUST HAVE KNOWN THAT NAME IF YOU'D'A DIED BEFORE I MET YOU.

A man in the water, looking down.

GINNY.

I GUESS I HAVEN'T SAID IT SINCE.

A man splashing water, looking down. The word 'SPLASH' is written in the water.

I LEFT A LOT UP IN THAT NIGHT.

A close-up of a man's face, looking down. He has a pink earring.

WE ALL LEFT SOMETHING ON THE WAY.

FINALLY A NEW DAY.

